Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 4-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The newly added limitation in each of claim 4 and 7 now require the step of distending frontal portions of a patient's neck in a manner effective for alleviating obstruction of the patient's airway by applying a distending force on such a patient's neck tissue in a direction generally perpendicular to a surface on which the distending force is applied.

There is no support in the original specification for the newly added language in which the direction of distention is generally perpendicular to the surface on which the force is applied.

Double Patenting

Claim 7 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a substantial duplicate of claim 4. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k).

Claim 7 is essentially identical to claim 4 the only difference is the preamble is directed to a treatment of upper airway disorders. The body of claims 4 and 7 are identical and the method for treatment for sleep apnea of claim 4 is identical to that as set forth for the general treatment of upper airway disorders. The specification fails to provide any other upper airway disorders other than the single disclosed embodiment of sleep apnea. Therefor, since the steps in the body of each of claim 4 and 7 are identical and the specification supports only one treatment, ie. sleep apnea, then the two claims are substantially identical and duplicative.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-3 are allowed.
